ANDREW HAAS AND WIFE
BOTH DEAD FOLLOWING
QUARREL LAST NIGHT.

Out of the Mass of Conflicting Circumstantial Evidence Coroner's Jury Decides Wife Shot Her Husband and Then Committed Suicide.

HAAS DIED IN THE HOSPITAL THIS MORNING.

Jealousy Alleged to Have Been Cause of Domestic Tragedy which Resulted in Orphaning of Two Lovable Children—Bodies Are Stretched Upon the Floor When First Witness Arrive on the Scene—Sounds of a Piercing Quarrel Preceded the Reports From 38 Calibre Revolver—Both Shots Entered, Cheek and Lodged in Head—Mrs. Haas Bled to Death Before Aid Reached Her.

Mystery surrounds the gruesome tragedy of last night which resulted in the death of Andrew Haas and his wife, Julia. As a consequence of the awful affair two little children are orphaned and the community has lost a highly respected citizen. The shooting took place in the private apartments of the Haas family in the Haas Hotel on Water street. There were no witnesses to the tragedy and the true facts will never be known. The only ones who could have supplied the details are dead.

This morning the coroner's jury held an inquest over the two bodies and reached a verdict that Mr. Haas was killed by his wife, who then committed suicide. The verdict was reached after hearing the testimony of two of the men who first entered the room. There was only circumstantial evidence on which to base an opinion in reaching a verdict.

Whether the shooting took place in the manner decided by the coroner's jury will never be satisfactorily settled. The evidence is conflicting. While the condition of the bodies would give rise to the suspicion that Haas did the shooting and then turned the weapon on himself after having shot his wife, other circumstances point to the conclusion reached by the jury.

Mrs. Haas was intensely jealous of her husband. Of that there seems to be no question. Those close to the family saw evidence of this for years past. But none of the family quarrels came to light through Andrew Haas. On the surface the couple got along splendidly together. Not to his most intimate friends did Mr. Haas confide his troubles. Mrs. Haas was not a diplomatic. She did not conceal the jealousy that raged within her and since after time have been outbursts which indicated that all was not peaceful within the Haas family circle. There are those who can feel of stormy outbreaks which followed a more or less quiet life.

After supper Haas and his wife went to the North Scottsdale home and came into the Central Hotel. Being delayed lower than usual, Blieber did not see him again. The family came home on the 9 o'clock car.

Entering the Water street hotel, Mrs. Haas went directly to her room on the second floor. Andy stopped below to pass a check with two for three men sitting at the hotel office. He then went upstairs.

Little Lorenna Ross Haas, the eldest daughter, who is about 10 years old, was the last to see her parents alive. She went into the room shortly before 10 o'clock to bid her parents good night. Mrs. Haas had undressed and was in bed. Her father was sitting, fully dressed, in a chair nearby. The little girl went out. Further than this she was not questioned. But servants downstairs at this time heard sounds of a stormy scene between Haas and his wife. This was apparently just after the little girl had left the room.

There were sounds of a terrible struggle. Suddenly there came a shot and a third or one body struck the floor. Another shot followed quickly.

B. J. Peters, who was in the office downstairs, rushed to the second floor but found the door to the room locked. This door is at the head of the stairs. Night Clerk Elmer Weaver hurried into the bar where Harry Engel, Mrs. Haas' nephew, was talking to him.

"There is trouble upstairs," he told Engel.

Engel rushed out of the bar and up the stairs. He had a key to the room and opened the door. H. L. Kallenbach, another boarder at the hotel, was the first man to enter the room. In the meantime Weaver, downstairs, having heard the shots, was telephoning for medical aid. He succeeded in reaching Dr. T. D. Richard and Dr. M. B. Shupe.

When Engel, Peters and Kallenbach entered the room they found Mr. and Mrs. Haas stretched out on the floor, their feet close together near the alcove which led to the bathroom. Mrs. Haas was apparently dead but her husband was still alive, though not conscious. He was muttering unintelligible things and convulsively clutching at his throat and nose, where the blood was streaming out. Mrs. Haas' arms were outstretched, the palms up. The revolver, a .38 calibre, was within the alcove. Two chambers were empty.

Dr. Richard was the first to arrive and Dr. Shupe followed him closely. In the haste to render medical assistance to the wounded man, his collar and a portion of his shirt were torn off. Dr. Shupe removed a ring on his finger but the big diamond, not relieved of its setting by Mr. Haas' hand, was permitted to remain. The ambulance was called and Mr. Haas removed to the South Side private hospital. There an operation was performed and the bullet removed from the top of the skull, where it had lodged.

The peculiar feature of the tragedy was the course taken by the bullets in both bodies. Both Mr. Haas and his wife were shot approximately in the same place. On Mr. Haas, the bullet entered the right cheek, just above the line of the jaw and close to the mouth. It took an upward course and lodged beneath the skull in the top of the head near the forehead. There were powder marks, about the size of a half-dollar, around the wound.

The bullet took a similar course in the head of Mrs. Haas, but entered on the left side and there were no powder marks. In its upward course the bullet evidently ruptured a big blood vessel, causing the woman to bleed to death almost instantly. Both bodies were found lying in a pool of blood. The quivering arms of the woman slumped touched her husband's body.

Mr. Haas died at the South Side hospital about 6:45 this morning. From the first there was no hope for him. The wonder is that he, too, did not die instantly. The bullets in both cases went directly upwards. The bullet was not located in the head of Mrs. Haas.

The body of Mr. Haas was brought back to the hotel this morning soon after his death and both were prepared for burial by J. E. Sims.

Coroner H. J. Bell was early on the scene this morning as were County Detectives Alex McElroy and Frank McLaughlin. The death of Mr. Haas made the highest move of a formality that had been necessary to fix the responsibility for the tragedy in event one of the parties had survived.

The inquest was held in the parlors of the hotel shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Coroner Bell empaneled J. D. Madigan, S. S. Clark, L. S. Mellinger, M. V. Monahan, H. George May and F. E. Younklin on the jury. B. J. Peters was the first witness called. He and Harry Engel testified to finding the body soon after the tragedy. They declared Mr. Haas said nothing regarding the tragedy. Peters said the shots were fired about a minute and a half apart. Dr. H. C. Hoffman testified to Mr. Haas being brought to the South Side hospital. He said he was not conscious; that there were powder burns on his face.

Indicating the revolver had been held close to his head when discharged. He stated death occurred about 6:45 this morning.

These were the only witnesses. County Detective McElroy stated he had examined the oldest girl, who had seen the two alive, and declared she could throw no additional light on the tragedy.

The jury then went into secret session. The evidence and other details of the affair were gone over at length. The jury took into consideration the fact that Mrs. Haas had frequently threatened her husband in the past and that the tragedy was not wholly unexpected by those intimate with the family. The jury concluded that Mrs. Haas shot her husband and then committed suicide, and rendered its verdict to that effect.

Andrew Haas was undoubtedly the most popular and prominent German in this vicinity. He had been a resident of Connellsville for years and was known by practically every one. He was prominent in the local lodge of Elks, a member of the German Liederkreis and the German Philharmonic Society. To him the Liederkreis owes its present existence, for it was a liberal contribution on his part that saved the organization from financial ruin. When the pronunciation was incorporated he invested liberally in its stock.

Through the medium of the hotel business Mr. Haas accumulated considerable wealth. He bought the Haas Hotel in 1900 and for two years led a precarious existence. It was in 1902 that he began to prosper and after that the Haas Hotel was one of the best paying propositions in the city. He rapidly accumulated wealth until at the time of his death it is estimated that he was worth considerably more than $125,000. Besides the hotel and the property in the rear of it, Mr. Haas owned a fine residence on East Main street and two large double apartment houses in Haas avenue. He was a Director in the Young National Bank and had other lucrative investments. He was a cheerful contributor to matters of civic interest and gave largely to charity.

During the past few years he had made two trips to his old home in Switzerland, where he was born in 1867. He came to this country at an early age and the family first lived near Broad Ford. He returned from his last trip abroad early in August. He was accompanied on this trip by Charles Wingenroth, the Bellevue hotel proprietor. On the former trip, several years ago, Mrs. Haas accompanied him. Upon their return that time there was a great reception for him at the German Liederkreis, the band being out to welcome them home and a banquet served in the hall. Andy Haas, enjoyed great popularity among his own people as well as those of native birth.

It was in 1892 that Mr. Haas married Miss Julia Blieber of Morgan Station, the daughter of Henry and Katherine Blieber. To this union four children were born, only two of whom survive. They are Lorenna Ross, aged 10, and Julia May, aged 14. Both are lovable little girls, very popular and well liked by all who know them. This sympathy of all is being denied these little girls who have been orphaned by the tragedy. Both are inconsolable.

Mr. Haas is survived, besides his daughters, by his stepmother, Mrs. Mary Haas of Dawson, and the following step-brothers, Otto, William and Fred Haas of Dawson and Henry Haas of Connellsville. Mrs. Haas, who was 36 years old, leaves two sisters and one brother, Mrs. Joseph Morgan of town, Mrs. Jacob Engel of Whitney and George Blieber of North Scottsdale. No arrangements have been made for the funeral of the couple but it is probable the internment will be private.

Andrew Haas with his parents lived for a number of years at Morgan and Broad Ford. In his youth he worked first in the mines at both these places of the H. C. Frick Coke Company. About the time he became of age or not long after that he came to Connellsville and took a position at the Kelly House then run by Wesley Moore. Close attention to business and a faculty of making and holding friends soon won for Andy a position as manager for Moore. In a few years his opportunity came to go into business for himself at Point Marion, where he applied for and received the first license granted there. After a short and successful stay there he came to Connellsville, buying the present site of the Haas Hotel from the

WITH PHYSICIANS.

Dr. Montgomery Had Narrow Escape at Punxsutawney Today.

PATIENT DIED IN TWO HOURS

Overpowered Montgomery, Knocked Out Negro Attendant and Almost Downed Superintendent. Cause of Death Not Due to the Struggle.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Dec. 1.—In a fight with a maniac patient in the Punxsutawney hospital, early today Dr. Montgomery, a resident physician, was almost strangled to death before he was rescued. Mike Markuse, aged 42, the patient, died two hours after the fight, but it is believed by the hospital authorities that the fight had nothing to do with his death.

When a nurse entered the room occupied by Markuse, who was suffering from Bright's disease, the patient sprang from the bed and attacked her. She fled from the room screaming. Her cries attracted Dr. Montgomery and he tried to subdue the patient. The struggle followed and the nurse seeing the physician was getting the worse of the argument sent for a negro boy orderly. The maniac paid very little attention to the boy, one blow being sufficient to send him sprawling across the room and putting him out of the fight, and continued his attack on Dr. Montgomery. Markuse forced the physician to the floor and, securing a firm hold on his throat, was fast strangling him to death when Dr. J. E. Crab, Superintendent of the institution, arrived. The superintendent, who is an enormous man, forced the patient from his prey and then a struggle which lasted 15 minutes ensued.

Dr. Montgomery was on the floor unconscious during the battle. The patient was ultimately overpowered and strapped in bed. He died less than two hours later in the hospital.

Today it was stated that the patient was not injured in the battle and that death was due to Bright's disease.

A TOUCH OF REAL WINTER
HITS FAYETTE COUNTY HARD.

Snow Both in the Mountains and Down in the Valleys. Averages About Five Inches—Trains and Street Cars Running on Schedule Time.

Continued snow flurries made a decided change in the temperature overnight. The thermometer took a drop to 27 this morning, a difference of three degrees from Wednesday morning. The change was plainly noticeable and warmer wraps were a necessity today. Last night the mercury registered 29, going down one degree during the day.

A biting wind that seemed to stop at nothing but chilled the occupants of houses, and in causing the drop in temperature. Real winter is here at last. Arrived just in time to make the holidays "real."

No trouble has been encountered by the railroads up to noon today, but should the downfall of snow continue by tomorrow its effect will likely be to show. Schedules were kept up to the standard both on the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania. There was a fall of about five inches of snow in the mountains over night, not sufficient to cause the Baltimore and Ohio to get out their snowplows. Good time was maintained on the West Penn throughout the morning, all cars running on time. However, three snowplows were put into action along the line, keeping the tracks cleared, the first time this season. The snowfall in Connellsville was about three inches over night.

DELEGATION FROM
MT. PLEASANT VISITS

Big Power Plant of the West Penn Company at Fayette Station.

Also Ride Over the Road Going to Brownsville This Morning and Back Around the Loop by Way of Greensburg This Afternoon. Those in the Party.

As the guests of the West Penn Railway Company, a delegation of Mt. Pleasant citizens passed through Connellsville this morning at 10 o'clock. This morning an inspection of the power plant at Fayette was made after which the party proceeded to Brownsville. This afternoon they will journey to Greensburg and after making the loop on the Hecla route, will be landed in their home town. The trip will last the greater part of the day.

Everything possible to make the trip a comfortable and pleasant one for their guests was done by the company. There was cigars and ice water and a porter to attend to their wants. Dinner was taken at the Barr House.

To give the Mt. Pleasant people an idea as to the work that is being done by the company and to advance a feeling of friendliness the West Penn has this morning offered a special excursion to the power plant at Fayette. About two months ago a like trip was made by the citizens of Fayette City and Bellefonte. The idea is not a new one by the company as about six years ago like trips were made with delegations from all the principal towns along their lines. Car No. 500 on which today's trip was made was in charge of a Connellsville crew, Conductor B. F. Waggoner and F. P. Moore.

West Penn officials who made the trip with the Mt. Pleasant delegation were: W. R. Kony, William Rogers, Thomas S. Henderson, J. S. Johnston, J. L. Fritsch, E. T. Brashers, D. Darle, H. L. Mitchell, J. S. Jenks and E. R. Kooser. The guests were: P. E. Painter, J. P. Keller, S. P. Stevens, U. G. Welmer, J. J. Hinchinson, Dr. S. M. Crosby, M. A. Kline, C. F. Stoner, S. N. Warden, James Hartling, Dr. F. L. Marsh, Samuel Noel, James Dillon, W. H. McCracken, S. C. Stevenson, Chas. Cunningham, O. P. Shupe, F. H. Hurst, J. R. Caldwell, C. G. Page, Charles P. DeNaux, E. B. Kline, W. O. Sullivan, W. P. Henderson, W. H. Tompkins, W. D. Mullen, E. B. Smith and James S. Hitehman.

Five Directors
to Be Elected

A large attendance is expected at the meeting of the main body of the Chamber of Commerce this evening at 8 o'clock. The principal business to be transacted will be the election of five directors for the ensuing year. There are 15 directors, three of whom are elected every year.

A meeting of the directors was to have been held yesterday afternoon but as several of the men were out of town on business it was postponed until this morning at 11 o'clock. A few bills and other small matters will remain from last year's work and it is proposed to close up everything as soon as possible.

Accommodating Husband.
C. F. Ames of Wilkes-Barre, leaving his wife nine years ago, in Beaver Falls, just learned that she is married again. On condition that he be allowed the custody of his little boy, Mr. Ames retired from the field, and returned to Altoona.

WATER WAGON FOR
WILLIAM THAW III.

His Bride, Whom He Weds Today Insisted Upon It.

Tried to Down Breweries But He Made Good Through Abstinence From the Cup That Cheers.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Life ability to abstain from strong drink was a bride for William Thaw, the third Pittsburg millionaire. This afternoon at 4 o'clock he will wed Miss Gladys Virginia Bradley in the parlors of the St. Regis Hotel, providing, of course, he is in the meantime doesn't take even the one drink that may be needed to steady his nerves.

William Thaw, the third, is a nephew of Harry K. Thaw, slayer of Stanford White. He started in at an early age to win the "Hard Drunkard Championship" of the United States and soon had the distillers putting on extra shifts to supply his demand. His past record was 68 or 80, he doesn't remember which, of brandies and sodas in the fashionable Allegheny County Club. Several days the hospital officials were in doubt as to his recovery, but he pulled through with a renewed appetite.

It was after this that his mother, Mrs. William Thaw, the second, asked the court to pronounce him a habitual drunkard and to place his income of $75,000 per year in the hands of trustees. Then Thaw met and fell in love with Miss Bradley, sister of Mrs. Antonio J. Druxel Bliddle of Philadelphia, whose husband is society expert of the main art. Miss Bradley conducted Mrs. Bliddle when Thaw proposed and the latter told the young Mr. Thaw that unless he mounted the water wagon he would have to leave her. Thaw went into training and he made good.

The wedding ceremony will be performed this afternoon by Rev. Daniel Dorchester of Christ's church, Pittsburg. After the wedding there will be a buffet luncheon at the St. Regis without drinks.

Princess Helen;
New Debutante

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(Special.) "Princess Helen," only daughter of the President, was formally presented to society this afternoon at a brilliant reception in the East Room of the White House. President Taft left his official duties long enough to partake of something to eat and to see the assemblage which greeted his daughter. Miss Taft is the fourth debutante to have been presented to society at the White House. The others were Miss Nellie Grant and Misses Alice and Ethel Roosevelt.

CABINET MEETS.

Believed President's Message Was Under Discussion.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(Special.) A hurriedly called Cabinet meeting today gave indications at the White House that President Taft had at least finished the rough draft of his annual message to Congress. It was expected that the meeting would last until late in the day.

The President hoped to see a trusted messenger bear his "copy" to the government printing office this evening.

FIREMAN KILLED
ON THE DUQUESNE.

Overhead Penna. Bridge on Water Street Claims Another Victim.

D. S. YOHIO MET DEATH

Instantly, Being Struck as He Prepared to Get Engine Ready to Take Water—Coroner Bell Indignant at Hasty Removal of the Body.

The Pennsylvania bridge over Water street again proved fatal to a Baltimore and Ohio trainman this morning when the life of D. S. Yohio of Glenwood, fireman on the Duquesne Limited, was killed. Actions that followed the accident may lead to an investigation by the county authorities, as the body was taken to Pittsburg without notifying the coroner or waiting instructions as to what should be done with the body. Coroner Harry J. Bell arrived in town early this morning to conduct the inquest in the Haas tragedy and was then informed of the accident at the B. & O. station and the removal of the body. Indications point to a rigid investigation on the part of the county authorities both as to the cause of accidents at this point and as to who was responsible for allowing the body to leave the local health registrar and the jurisdiction of Fayette county.

Yohio had been on this run but a few days and not much is known about the man except that he has been in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio for the past five years. He was about 25 years of age. As No. 11 was pulling into the Connellsville station this morning about 7:30 o'clock, Yohio climbed up on the tender preparatory to taking water at the tank. The train was running slow as it rolled along Water street and just how the accident happened is only a matter of conjecture as there was no eye witness of the tragedy.

After Engineer Gregory of Pittsburg had stopped the train he went for his usual orders and on coming back to the engine noticed that no water had been taken. An investigation revealed the lifeless form of Yohio lying on the coal. His head had been split open and the brains were scattered over the tender, the bridge having caught him on the forehead with terrible force. Death was instantaneous.

The body was carried into the baggage room of the local station but as it was known that the man lived at Glenwood the body was taken to Pittsburg on the same train which he had just helped to bring over the mountains.

Charles Graft, fireman of No. 1199, the switch engine about the local station, completed the trip to Pittsburg in Yohio's place. John R. Porter of Connellsville was conductor of the train this morning.

This is the second fatal accident at this bridge within the last three months. Coincident is the fact that the other recent man killed was also fireman of the Duquesne and was learning his first trip on this run.

Riot Quelled
by Fisticuffs

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 1.—When No. 75 headed on the jaws of Nos. 7, 18 and 62 today the first riot incident to the messengers' strike in Pittsburg was quelled. The lone strike breaker, No. 75, who was none other than a member of the Western Union official force sworn in to do special duty made short work of the strikers who assaulted him.

With every member of the Western Union messenger corps of 20 boys out the box runners held a mass meeting in a neighborhood today to determine their course of action. Indications were that they also would strike for higher pay.

Bad Fire Over
in Dallas, Texas

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 1.—Fire early today destroyed 20 frame buildings. Six small retail stores, six boarding houses and a part of the Buell Plaster mill, besides a part of the Dallas Ice and Fuel plant and other property. The loss will reach $250,000. Five hundred persons are homeless as a result. The fire is still burning and is within three blocks of Main street with a low water pressure hampering the fire fighters.

Snow Flurries.

ANDREW HAAS AND WIFE DEAD.

From here, Andy received a license there and made the house one of the most popular in Connellsville. The Haas house under the proprietorship of Andrew Haas for years has drawn its clientele from all over the northern end of the county. It was especially a gathering place for the German element and old time coal and coke workers. They were always assured of a hearty welcome by Andy Haas and countless almost are the instances of his generosity and help among them during times of distress or misfortune.

Personally Andy Haas had many admirable qualities. He was frequently called on by charity and never refused. And just as often he went out of his way to seek the needy and in a measure share with them the prosperity he enjoyed.

Intimate friends of the Haas family tell of the almost constant bickering between the couple and all contentment upon the recognition with which Andy Haas, as he was popularly known, bore the cross of domestic care. Time after time, it is said Mrs. Haas accused her husband of unfaithfulness and would follow this with cuffs and blows which he accepted in meekest resignation. On Mr. Haas' part there was never a word of reproach. What he did his best to keep the family from reaching outside bars is also stated. On her part, Mrs. Haas was not so discreet.

Some times these family rows became so serious that outsiders were called in to restore peace. But there was never peace for long within the family circle in the statement made today by several intimates of the family. Mrs. Haas was intensely jealous of her husband. The family friends insist that these fits of jealous rage were, for the most part, unprovoked. It is known, however, that Mr. Haas had many times left home for weeks at a time, seeking peace at some health resort, rather than remain at home and be subjected to the constant scoldings that came from his wife. Besides, he did not enjoy the best of health. It was in 1907 that he sold his hotel on Water street to J. J. Roland. He was out of the hotel business for a little more than a year, during which time the family resided on East Main street where he built a fine residence. It became necessary to take over the hotel once more from Mr. Roland and it was with great reluctance that they gave up their pretty home to return to the hotel. Mrs. Haas particularly objected to returning to the hotel, but to preserve the financial interests of the establishment this became imperative on the part of Mr. Haas. For the past two years Mr. Haas conducted the hotel along the same lines that accumulated for him a fortune during the years from 1902 to 1907. The Haas hotel was a popular boarding place for a number of people who enjoyed the fine table that was spread, the clean and comfortable rooms and the genial companionship of Andy Haas.

At one time, not long ago, Mr. Haas had a menagerie in his back yard. Among the animals he kept in the enclosure were two big black bears, some horses and other animals. When his business was at its best Mr. Haas built an annex to his hotel, facing it on Arch street. The annex was never an entirely successful investment. Several ambitious hotel keepers rented the building but no license was ever granted it. It was not a good investment for them. The annex was burned in 1907 and was never rebuilt. Only the walls of it remain although the debris has been cleared away. Mr. Haas intended to rebuild the structure and from time to time had several propositions under consideration. None of these matured up to the time of his untimely death. Dr. Shupe, who was among the first to arrive on the scene, stated today that he found both bodies lying in pools of blood. A glance assured him that Mrs. Haas was already dead and both he and Dr. Richard centered their attention upon the living man. A rocking chair had been overturned and a pillow placed on it, and on this Mr. Haas' head was resting. Dr. Shupe said:

"We could not make out anything Mr. Haas was saying. He was babbling unintelligible sentences and laughing weirdly. Blood was coming from his nose and had dripped over his clothing. It was a terrible sight. We could see there was practically no hope for him."

Dr. Shupe stated that Mr. Haas was fully dressed while his wife had only her night clothing on. Mr. Haas had his coat on. This conflicts with the statement of the little girl who last saw them. She said her father was sitting in his chair with his coat off.

This would indicate a probable cause of the quarrel; that after the little girl had bid her parents good night, Mr. Haas rose, donned his coat and intended to go out. Considering the jealous disposition of the wife, it is possible Mrs. Haas leaped from the bed in a rage and grasped her husband. Did Andy Haas, for the first time lose control of the temper he so admirably held in check for years? The revolver which was in the drawer of the dresser, which one of them grabbed it? Did Mrs. Haas or did Andy? Was the struggle, sounds of which were heard downstairs, one over possession of the weapon which later caused the death of both? Or did one or the other battle desperately to live?

These are questions that for all time will remain unanswered for the only ones who could tell are dead. The wounds are such that the revolver must have been held low and pointed almost directly upward. Were the shot fired while the two were struggling in floor, embrace? This explanation is plausible but as mysterious as all the other questions that have been propounded.

The Owls Banquet in Lodge Rooms

The local lodge of Owls gave a very enjoyable and well appointed banquet last evening in the social rooms of the lodge in the old Masonic building. Promptly at 6:30 o'clock 75 guests were seated around the tables which were laden with all the delicacies of the season. The banquet was perfectly served.

Dr. A. H. Kidd was toastmaster of the evening. Impromptu addresses were made by several other members of the lodge and a general good time was had by all present. A. W. Miller, president of the Uniontown lodge of Owls, and George Matthews, also of Uniontown, were out of town guests.

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE

Girl Tells How a Blotchy Skin Was Cleaned by a Simple Wash.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Miss Minnie McLeod of Altoona, Pa. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescriptions I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases, that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, black heads, and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is, that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

D. D. D. is pleasant to use perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. A 25 cent bottle will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

SUIT CASE MYSTERY.

Found Riffed Under Meat Market on East Main Street Yesterday.

The local police have another suit case on their hands, and though it did not look like a puzzle, either, there is some mystery as to the identity of the person who is conducting the game and robbing them. The case left with the police this morning was found by John Barner yesterday under his meat market on East Main street near the intersection with Snyder street.

A carded suit case the name inscribed in one end and a stamp sealed on one side of the case shows that it was infected on March 22, 1909, at Noid's. The contents consisted of two coats and a pair of pants. It had been forced open and then tied together with a string.

Danderine

GROWS HAIR and we can PROVE IT!

A lady from Minnesota writes: "As a result of using Danderine, my hair is close to five feet in length."

Beautiful Hair at Small Cost

HAIR troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misinterpreted. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon the scalp. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grows, and it alone should receive the attention it is entitled to. It would be as foolish to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention it is entitled to expect—try it and see for yourself.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment when illness occurs. The scalp then simply loses its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon in plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions.

The natural thing to do in either case, is to feed and retain the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended.

Knowlton's Danderine has a most wonderful effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is similar to the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It penetrates the pores quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully stimulating and life-producing qualities.

One 25-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

FREE To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the KNOWLTON DANDERINE CO., CHICAGO, ILL., with their name and address and 10c in silver or stamps to pay postage.

An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filter-cap, put in like a cork in a bottle, is attached by a chain. This heater has a cool handle and a damper top.

The Perfection Oil Heater has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back, so the wick can be quickly cleaned. The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

THE LESSON OF A TRAGEDY.

The Water street tragedy will provoke much speculation concerning the causes which led to so desperate a deed, but in the end it must necessarily remain an unsolved mystery. No one heard what passed between husband and wife before the fatal shooting, no eye saw the deed, no human agency read the minds of the couple.

The most reasonable explanation of the tragedy, however, is the insanity of fatalistic jealousy. The husband was of a genial temperament, and unless stricken with sudden and strange delusion would have been the last man in the community to commit either murder or suicide.

The moral of the tragedy is that when a man takes unto himself a wife, he assumes a sacred obligation which in justice to her and as a matter of wisdom to himself he should never forget, not for a instant of time. He should be mindful of her goodness and forgetful of her faults.

This obligation, however, is by no means one-sided. It rests just as heavily upon the wife, and conjugal happiness depends entirely upon a proper appreciation of these facts.

IN UNION
THERE IS STRENGTH.

The announcement that there will be no change in steel prices coupled with the statement that one of the leading railroad interests had placed its rail order for the coming year amounting to over four millions of dollars in value are encouraging to a rather hopeful condition of the Connelldale coke trade.

There has been no marked decline in the prices of steel products, but pig iron and coke have dropped to ruinous figures, and in this fact is much food for thought on the part of furnace-men and coke operators.

The steel interests were represented at the conference which decided to maintain prices by just eight persons. When the Connelldale coke operators and the Valley furnace-men form a Co-Operative Club of the emergency Board of Directors after they will be better able to regulate their production to demand and their prices to reasonable profit.

In Union there is Strength; also some profit.

THE B. & O.
SLAUGHTER HOUSE.

Overhead or underneath railroad crossings are preferable to grade crossings as a rule, and the tendency of modern construction is toward them, but there are some overhead crossings that are worse than grade crossings, and the Pennsylvania railroad bridge at Connelldale seems to be a striking example of the exception.

The announcement of the fatal accident to another Baltimore & Ohio trainman recalls the fact that the last of similar victims is a long one, and that the fatalities have been persistent and promise to be perennial.

The Pennsylvania bridge has already earned the appellation of "the B. & O. slaughter house." When it gets as bad as that humanity demands that some warm blood be injected into some soulless corporation.

The B. & O. slaughter house should be abolished.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook confesses that one gets dippy when within the circle of the South Pole and that he is really not certain that he was there. Commander Robert E. Peary smiles in a surly manner. Perhaps he wasn't even within the sphere of influence. Confessions are in order.

France is flood swept again. Nature seems determined to put the may Parisians on the Water Wagon.

The Humane Agent at Fayette county is right busy on the job, but it is of course difficult for him to distinguish between a circus lion and an acute case of equine hooves. He would perhaps know more about the feminine hobble.

Short measure merchants should should have short shrift in the courts.

If the Western Union messenger boys don't strike any winter than they run their own little lines.

Old man Winter has been delirious in his journey southward, but he has landed on the job in time to hear the explanations of some of his recent visitors as to his particular street and number in the North Pole District of Greenland.

The sinner and the saint are skating around together today.

"Hop" Anderson, Philippine veteran and around good citizen, was defeated by a fellow who spent $2,000, marked down from $100. When the political reform is a queer article.

People Expect the Biggest Prayer Meetings in History of Town.

SING FROM DAVIS HYMN BOOK

Those Used by Leader F. A. Mills
Will Be Used in the Devotions in Mill Town Tonight—Main Auditoriums Being Opened for Meetings.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, Nov. 30.—At the Methodist Episcopal church tonight a call is sent out through this paper that the Davis and Mills hymn books be brought for the prayer meeting and the evangelistic meetings to-morrow night. Doubtless nearly every church in town will use these books in their services this evening, and many of the hymns were sung on Sunday. People of town expect that to-morrow's prayer meetings will surpass anything of the kind ever known in this town. People have been anticipating them for a week now and the janitors of the various churches have been instructed to open the main auditoriums of the church, instead of the Sunday school rooms where a handful of people used to assemble. One of the things that Evangelist Davis drove home with power to the people here was to attend the prayer meetings above all other meetings. If it was necessary to miss any meeting be absent from anyone but the prayer meeting. He holds that it is the greatest meeting of the church, especially for the young people and the beginners in the Christian life. One of the effects noticed by the evangelistic campaigns is that the storekeepers here are sold out of scarfs. These became the popular headgear for the people attending the meetings. In fact Evangelist Davis advised those women who attended the meetings to buy scarfs as they were the most convenient for winter and were the easiest removed, giving those sitting behind a chance to see. It was a general practice for others to remove their hats during the services.

VETERINARY SURGEON'S VERDICT

Jubilant Defendants Who Treated a Car-Full of Passengers to a Rehearsal of the Trial on the Way Home From Court.

Attorney L. C. Higbee was engaged yesterday afternoon in mounting up some new points of law both for the benefit of his client, John A. Guller, defendant on a cruelty to animals charge, proffered by humane officer Howard Ebert and for Squire Daniel M. Ebert of Uniontown, who heard the case. Following the hearing the contention of the defense was sustained and Guller discharged. The county will pay the costs. Charles Work was also defendant on the same information. The case was first brought about on November 18, when Officer Ebert and Constable William Betts paid Connelleville a visit for the purpose of looking over some of the plugs seen daily on the streets here. Work, who is engaged in hauling garbage, was using one of Guller's horses and Ebert's eagle eye detected a slight lameness in one of the hind feet. After some questioning and an examination of the foot Ebert decided that the animal was not fit for use and made information against both the driver and owner. Assistant District Attorney George Patterson represented the prosecutor at the hearing. Guller brought over a dozen witnesses from Connelleville to prove that the horse, which he values at $75, was permanently lame, but was not suffering. As Higbee stated, the horse was claimed to be "inconvenienced" only and not suffering acute pain. Veterinary Surgeon F. W. Shorrick was called and showed that the mare was sounder on January 20, 1907, and claimed this was its only fault. He said those animals were always good for slow work, such as it was doing. Attorney Higbee informed Squire Ebert that the defendant could not be fined for the alleged offense unless he pled guilty. Under the Act of Congress of 1859, the case would be a misdemeanor, he said. It has been the usual custom of justices to render a decision after hearing the evidence in such cases and providing he found the defendant guilty, a fine was imposed. Higbee's information gives the matter a different view. Guller's witnesses were very jubilant over the outcome of the proceeding. On the return trip passengers on the West Penn car were treated to a complete review of the proceedings, the BERLIN, Nov. 30.—Ann's, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Florence Miller, was taken violently ill yesterday morning while playing about the house. Her father, who is employed at the Stoner mine was sent for and hurried home with Dr. Gorman, who pronounced the trouble appendicitis. The child was resting earlier in the day. Although arrangements were made to remove the child to a hospital, it is hoped this need not be done and the case will not prove a serious one.

No employee will contribute to fund.

Certainty of comfort in the declining years of life was given yesterday to those who have grown old in the service of the United States Steel Corporation and the companies from which it was formed. According to an announcement by the corporation, $8,000,000 has been set aside to pension all such employees. This has been joined with a fund of $1,000,000 previously given by Andrew Carnegie, making a total pension fund of $12,000,000.

Persons who have worked for the company 20 years and have reached the age of 60 years may retire voluntarily on a pension. Retirement on a pension is made compulsory at 70. In cases of women the ages are 50 and 60. There are believed to be many hundreds of persons in the employ of the corporation who immediately will become eligible to apply for pensions. Everything has been made ready for the inauguration of the system and it will go into effect on January 1, 1911.

Headquarters of the pension fund will be in Pittsburgh in the offices heretofore occupied by the Carnegie Relief Fund on the twenty-third story of the Oliver building. The Carnegie Relief Fund will cease to exist, and the title of the consolidated fund will be "The United States Steel and Carnegie Relief Fund."
J. D. Perkins, manager of the relief fund, has been appointed manager of the pension fund. He will pass upon all cases of compulsory or voluntary retirement, and make recommendations, but final approval will rest with a board of trustees, with headquarters in New York. This board is composed of the following representatives of the Steel Corporation and Carnegie interests:

Trustees—Frank D. Adams, Duluth; Rev. C. D. Collins, New York; William F. Dickson, New York; Robert A. Frick, New York; Albert H. Gary, New York; James H. Hunt, Cleveland; Kimmer K. Manager—J. D. Perkins.

There are employed by the corporation about 200,000 men. The highest number ever employed by the concern was about 229,000. It is estimated that 140,000 are working now.
No estimate has been made of the number of persons eligible to receive pensions immediately, and it is stated that that can be possible until the statistics have been collected.

The Steel Corporation and Mr. Carnegie have been working upon this plan since March of the present year. The fund will take over more than 100 pensioners of the Carnegie relief fund. The following statement was given out yesterday by the steel corporation simultaneously in Pittsburgh, New York and Chicago:

Plans have now been consummated to begin on January 1, 1911, to pay pensions from the United States Steel and Carnegie pension fund, which was established last spring by the joint action of the United States Steel Corporation and Andrew Carnegie. This fund was established for the purpose of paying old age pensions from the income of the fund to employees of the United States Steel Corporation and its subsidiary companies.

For this purpose the United States Steel Corporation provided $8,000,000 while, with the Carnegie relief fund of $1,000,000 created by Andrew Carnegie on March 12, 1907, make up a joint fund of $12,000,000. This pension

Under the pension rules three classes of pensions are provided:
First, Pensions by compulsory retirement granted to employees who have been 20 years or longer in the service and have reached the age of 70 for men and 60 years for women.
Second, Pensions by retirement at request granted to employees who have been 20 years or longer in the service and have reached the age of 60 years for men and 50 years for women.
Third, Pensions for permanent incapacity granted to employees who have been 20 years or longer in the service and have become permanently incapacitated through no fault of their own.
The monthly pensions to be paid from the income of the fund will be made up on the following basis: For each year of service 1 per cent. of the average regular monthly pay received during the last 10 years of service, provided, however, that no pension shall be more than $100 a month or less than $12 a month. For example, an employee who has been 25 years in the service and has received an average regular monthly pay of $10 will receive a pension allowance of $12 a month.
This pension fund provides for the support of faithful employees in their old age. It is entirely separate and distinct from the voluntary accident relief plan put into operation by the United States Steel Corporation on May 1, 1908, which provides for employees who may be injured and the families of employees who may be killed while at work in the service of the subsidiary companies of the United States Steel Corporation.
Neither the voluntary accident relief plan nor the United States Steel Corporation and Carnegie pension fund involves any contribution from the men themselves toward the accident relief or old age pensions.
In addition to the official statement a book of rules has been printed, which contains considerable information regarding the pension plan. The system applies to employees of the United States Steel Corporation or any other corporation a majority of whose stock is owned by the Steel Corporation.
At the request of employing officers certain classes of persons are to be allowed to continue in service after reaching the age limit. Employees who have become incapacitated may be pensioned at the discretion of the board. Names of persons who have reached the age limit are to be reported to the manager of the fund. Where it is desired by an employing officer that persons who have not reached the age limit shall retire the names are to be sent to the manager of the fund.
Among the other regulations are the following:
Pensions from the fund will be paid only to those employees who have given their entire time to the service of corporations included under the provisions of the fund.
The acceptance of a pension from the fund shall not bar any former employee from engaging in other business so long as such other business is not of the same character as the former employment. No employee receiving a pension may reenter the service.
Length of service shall be reckoned from the date since which the employee has been continuously in the service to the date when retired, and a part of a year is less than a half shall not be counted. It more than a half it shall be counted as a full year.
In order that direct personal relations with retired employees may be preserved and that such employees may continue to enjoy the benefits of pensions as intended them, the assignment of pensions will be permitted under any circumstances, whether shall pensions be subject to attachment or other legal process for debts of the beneficiaries.
The pension plan is a purely voluntary provision for the benefit of employees superannuated or totally incapacitated after long and faithful service, and constitutes no contract and confers no legal rights upon any employee.
The manager of the fund shall decide all questions arising out of the administration of the fund and relating to employees, subject to a right of appeal to the board of trustees within 30 days after notice to the persons

Coke Companies Want Road Taxes Amounting to $3,000 Returned.

Mendenhall township coke companies are fighting for the recovery of over $3,000 in road tax, paid following the triennial assessments which became effective this year. A case stated, in which the Atlas Coke company, Brier Hill Coke company, Connellsville Coke company, Fayette Coke company, Waltersburg Coke company, A. L. Kelster Coke company, Taylor Coke company, Pittsburg Coal company, and the Prospect Coal and Coke company are plaintiffs and the township of Mendenhall is defendant was filed Wednesday, legal questions being put up to the court, the determination of which will result in judgments for the plaintiffs or defendant.

The question raised by each company is the same. In March, 1910, the road supervisors of Mendenhall township assessed a road tax of eight mills on property, including coal lands. An Act of 1905 authorizes such a tax not exceeding ten mills. It is contended, however, that the property valuations upon which the assessment is levied should be the last adjudged valuation for county purposes, and must be furnished to the road supervisors by the county commissioners.

At the time the tax now in dispute was levied it is contended by the plaintiffs, the assessors of Mendenhall township had made the return for the triennial assessment becoming effective in 1910, but the county commissioners had not examined and corrected the assessment, therefore the coke companies hold that they should have been assessed on the valuation of 1909 instead of 1910. The difference between the tax on the valuations of 1909 and 1910 is $3,028.67.

The companies, in order to secure the five per cent. discount, had settled the bills before they discovered that the assessment of eight mills was made by the supervisors before the commissioners had revised the assessments for 1910. The complaining companies, with the township as defendant, now submit the facts to court under the agreement that if the court is of the opinion that the assessment of eight mills should be made on the valuation of 1910, as returned by the assessors, but which assessment has not been revised and adjusted by the county commissioners, then judgment shall be entered for the defendant and the assessments shall stand. On the other hand, if the court holds that the assessment, under the circumstances, should have been on the 1909 valuation, then judgment shall be entered against the defendant and in favor of the plaintiff companies for the respective amounts claimed.

The Atlas Coke company's assessed valuation for 1909 was $153,930, and for 1910 it was $180,750. The increase in tax was $200 and they seek to recover this amount. The assessed valuation of the Brier Hill property for 1909 was $37,253 and for 1910 it was $60,750. They claim an overcharge of $173.50. The Connellsville Central property in 1909 was assessed at $227,200 and in 1910 it was $307,400. Their tax was increased $539.44 and they seek judgment for this amount. The Fayette Coke company's property was assessed at $161,418 in 1909 and $198,891 in 1910, an increase of $284.81 in road tax.

The Kelster property was assessed at $312,555 in 1909 and $396,210 in 1910. They ask the return of $361.79. The Waltersburg company's valuation in 1909 was $68,910 and in 1910 it was increased to $99,210, the additional tax being $102.11.

The Taylor Coke company's property was assessed $295,145 in 1909 and $408,410 in 1910. The difference in tax was $845.26. The Pittsburg Coal company's property was assessed at $52,125 in 1909 and increased to $74,510 in 1910, the tax increase being $133.71.

The property of the Prospect Coal company was assessed at $41,700 in 1909 and $46,250 in 1910. This increased the tax $32.49.

This made a total increase of $3,028.67 in the aggregate road tax of the nine coke companies who have taken the matter into court.

BROWNTOWN WON.

From The Everson Team, With a Margin of Forty-Four Points.

The Brownstown team of the Scottish City League journeyed to Everson last night and won from the Everson team, having a margin of 44 plus. East had high score of 129 for Brownstown and O'Brien for Everson had 105. A return game will be played at Scottish on Monday evening. The score:

	Brownstown	Everson
Hamilton	85	101
Swartz	77	91
McLaughlin	82	88
Williams	105	100
East	129	100
Total	478	480
O'Brien	102	100
Jones	81	77
Watson	85	80
Pritchard	70	70
McDonald	82	105
Buttle	80	100
Total	481	480

Basketball Notes.

Pat Doyle exhibited praiseworthy spirit when he refused to accompany the Cokers to Homestead Tuesday night, although he was urged to go along.

"What's the use of adding that expense to the trip," asked Doyle, "can't play and win at the same time. You fellows go along and do your best; I'll pull for you at home."

Fellows like that make life easy for the management and get along just a shade better than players who want everything in sight and try to run up expenses instead of keeping them down. Incidentally, Pat is looking to get into the game, once more.

Begins to look as though Uniontown will be about as badly demoralized as Connellsville in the game tonight. There is an even chance that the hoodoo has seen his shadow and won't come out this evening.

On turn Uniontown should be an easy winner tonight. A safe prediction is that the backers of both teams will keep a struggle hold on their pocket-books. It is almost a sure thing, however, that every cent of Uniontown money that is offered will be quickly covered.

Uniontown has not won a game from McKeesport, Connellsville or South Side. The Big U's seems to have Johnston's number, however, having won three games from them without a defeat.

Sore Throat Wisdom

If every mother could realize the danger that lurks behind every case of sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she had effected a cure every time a child has it.

Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Group, Quinsy, Tonillitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it! Inflammation or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure.

To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE when upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death. TONSILINE is the stick in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the bottle when you go to the drug store to get it. 25 cents and 50 cents. Hospital Size $1.00. All Druggists.
